

LIGHTNING TALKS

bye bye binaries

Anya Sirota, Taubman College of Architecture + Urban Planning (TCAUP), UM-AA
Bryce Detroit, ONE Mile + the Detroit Afrikan Music Institution

Community Action to Promote Healthy Environments: Partnering for Clean Air in Detroit

Amy Schulz, School of Public Health, UM-AA
Angela G. Reyes, Detroit Hispanic Development Corporation

The Banglatown Project: Adventures in [Ethno]Graphic Design

Ben Gaydos, Department of Art + Art History, UM-F, + goodgood

Sensors in a Shoebox

Jerry Lynch, College of Engineering, UM-AA
Elizabeth Moje, School of Education, UM-AA

Speculative Futures: Detroit's Post-Crisis Housing Markets

Joshua Akers, Department of Geography + Urban + Regional Studies, UM-D

Can the Wounded Blue Bird Sing Again? Archaeology, Sound Conservation, and the Afterlives of Orphaned Buildings

Carleton Gholz, Detroit Sound Conservancy
Krysta Ryzewski, Department of Anthropology, Wayne State University

Collaborating for Food Literacy

Shane Bernardo, Earthworks Urban Farm
Lilly Fink Shapiro, School of Natural Resources and Environment (SNRE), UM-AA

MAY 3, 2017
9:30 - 5:00

Three campuses researching and learning in and with Detroit

UM3DETROIT SCHEDULE

- 9:30 – Coffee + light breakfast
- 10:00 – Opening Remarks by Mark Schlissel, President, University of Michigan
- 10:20 – Lightning talks, moderated by Angela Dillard, Associate Dean, College of LS&A
- 11:45 – Lunch
- 12:30 – Remarks by The Hon. Mike Duggan, Mayor, City of Detroit
- 1:10 – Breakout Session I
- 2:20 – Breakout Session II
- 3:30 – Closing Remarks by Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Stephen Henderson, Detroit Free Press
- 4:00 – Reception + Poster/Table Walk + Short Film Exhibition

BREAKOUT SESSION I

Equity + Excellence Through Educational Outreach + Enrichment

Convener: Rob Jagers, School of Education + Wolverine Pathways, UM-AA
Room: 1220

At U-M, equity + excellence are understood to be inextricably linked. Members of this panel discuss some of the University's educational outreach + enrichment efforts aimed at advancing these twin goals.

Panelists:

William Collins, Center for Educational Outreach, UM-AA

Henry Meares, School of Education, UM-AA

Feodies Shipp, Detroit Center, UM

Gloria Taylor, Office of Academic Multicultural Initiatives, UM-AA

Policy Research in Detroit

Convener: Liz Gerber, Ford School of Public Policy, UM-AA
Room: 1230

U-M researchers are engaged in a wide range of policy research in + around Detroit. The papers on this panel illustrate some of the diverse approaches to partnerships with City government + other stakeholders, + highlight innovative data collection efforts + analytical approaches.

Panelists:

Brian Jacob, LSA Economics, School of Education, + Ford School of Public Policy, UM-AA

Robin Jacob, Institute for Social Research + School of Education, UM-AA

Jeff Morenoff, LSA Sociology, Ford School of Public Policy, + Institute for Social Research, UM-AA

Pascal Van Hentenryck, College of Engineering, UM-AA

Community Perspectives on Conducting Research with Academic Partners

Convener: Barbara Israel, School of Public Health + Detroit Urban Research Center, UM-AA
Room: 1240

Featuring four longstanding + influential Detroit community leaders, this panel discussion will highlight what it takes to build partnerships with academic researchers, + explore the pearls + pitfalls of these relationships from a community perspective. The panelists will discuss lessons learned from over two decades working with researchers from the University of Michigan, + their experience using a community-based participatory research (CBPR) approach, through such entities as the Detroit Community-Academic Urban Research Center (Detroit URC) + affiliated partnerships.

Panelists:

J. Ricardo Guzman, Community Health + Social Services (CHASS) Center, Inc

Angela G. Reyes, Detroit Hispanic Development Corporation

Zachary Rowe, Friends of Parkside

Donele Wilkins, Green Door Initiative

Detroit School of Urban Studies: A Community of Scholars

Convener: Nick Tobier, Stamps School of Art + Design, + Edward R. Ginsberg Senior Counsel on Civic Engagement to the Provost, UM-AA
Room: 1210

Is it time to establish a Detroit School of Urban Studies? Both the Chicago School of Sociology + the Los Angeles School of Urbanism have contributed many ideas to underst+ing cities. Detroit is neither a dense, industrial Chicago nor a sprawling, fast-growing, immigrant-rich Los Angeles, yet Detroit is representative of a host of cities that have experienced sustained deindustrialization, depopulation, + disinvestment, as well as poor race relations, for many decades. What would define a Detroit School of Urban Studies? How does thinking about Detroit-like cities change the questions we ask + the answers we pursue in the many disciplines that contribute to urban studies? What do we gain by rallying a community of scholars under the Detroit School banner?

Panelists:

Alicia Alvarez, School of Law, UM-AA

Maria Arquero de Leon, Taubman College of Architecture + Urban Planning (TCAUP), UM-AA

Eric Dueweke, TCAUP, UM-AA

Patrick Cooper McCann, TCAUP, UM-AA

BREAKOUT SESSION II

Partnerships to Address Poverty in Detroit

Convener: Luke Shaefer, School of Social Work + School of Public Policy, UM-AA
Room: 1220

Poverty Solutions is a new interdisciplinary initiative at U-M that aims to become a leader in identifying + testing new strategies to address poverty in Michigan, the nation, + the world. This panel will introduce participants to a few of the affiliated projects being undertaken by U-M faculty in collaboration with community partners.

Panelists:

Michael Barr, School of Law, UM-AA

Margaret Dewar, TCAUP, UM-AA

Michele Heisler, School of Public Health, UM-AA

Talking with Foundations about Community Partnerships

Convener: Maureen Martin, Foundation Relations, UM-AA
Room: 1230

This panel conversation features several experienced + savvy professionals in the grantmaking field. They will speak candidly about what they've seen work + not work on the ground.

Panelists:

Karen Aldridge-Eason, Office of the Governor, State of Michigan

Jodee Fishman-Raines, Fred A. + Barbara M. Erb Foundation

Don Jones, New Economy Initiative, Community Foundation for Southeast Michigan

Destination Detroit

Convener: Sally Howell, Center for Arab American Studies, UM-D
Room: 1240

Detroit has long been known as a migrant hub. It continues to attract new populations from around the globe who are filling + reshaping neighborhoods + business districts across the city. This roundtable will feature U-M researchers with long standing research relationships with new + established migrant communities in Detroit. We will discuss the opportunities, challenges, + rewards of our research partnerships + other ties to the city.

Panelists:

Maya Barak, Criminal Justice, UM-D

Marian Krzyzowski, Institute for Research on Labor, Employment, + the Economy (IRLEE), College of LSA, UM-AA

Karen Majewski, Mayor of Hamtramck, + Chene Street History Project, IRLEE, UM-AA

Andrew Shryock, LSA Anthropology, UM-AA

Rudolph Ware, LSA History, UM-AA

Sustainability Initiatives in Detroit

Convener: John Callewert, Graham Sustainability Institute, UM-AA
Room: 1210

This panel will feature innovative sustainability efforts in Detroit involving community organizations, students, + faculty. Panelists will share thoughts on important trends with respect to sustainability in Detroit as well as what might be missing from current work. Based on previous projects, panelists will also discuss their views on the essential elements of good partnerships between universities + community organizations.

Panelists:

Debbie Fisher + Stephanie Johnson-Cobb, Focus: HOPE

Marlena Hanlon, School of Social Work + TCAUP, UM-AA, + Condon Crow House

Larissa Larsen, TCAUP, + the School of Natural Resources + Environment (SNRE), UM-AA

Geoff Lewis, SNRE, UM-AA

Natalie Sampson, Department of Health + Human Services, UM-D

Justin Schott, EcoWorks